SEX EDUCATION LIES

Summary

*The introduction of sex education in government K-12 schools from the 1960s onward has coincided with increased rates of teenage gonorrhea and pregnancy among unmarried females. Contrary to the claim that sex education helps, the evidence suggests it contributes to negative outcomes in youth sexual health.

The Stats

- Pre-1960s Decline in STDs: Before the widespread introduction of sex education, rates of gonorrhea and syphilis were declining. Gonorrhea rates fell every year from 1950 to 1958, and syphilis rates were less than half by 1960 compared to 1950.
- Post-1960s Increase in STDs: After sex education was introduced, the rate of teenage gonorrhea tripled between 1956 and 1975.
- Rise in Teenage Pregnancy: The pregnancy rate among teenage females (15-19 years old) increased from 68 per thousand in 1970 to 96 per thousand by 1980.
- Unmarried Birth Rates: The birth rate among unmarried females (15-19 years old) rose from 12.6 per thousand in 1950 to 40.4 per thousand by 1999. By 2000, 78.7% of all births in this age group were to unmarried females.
- Increased Sexual Activity: By 1976, the percentage of unmarried teenage females who had engaged in sex was higher at every age from 15-19 compared to just five years earlier, indicating a correlation with sex education.
- Content of Sex Education: Sex education programs included controversial materials like film strips of four naked couples, two homosexual and two heterosexual, performing a variety sexually explicit acts which is not age-appropriate and encourages early sexual activity. Teachers were warned with a cautionary note from the sex educators not to show the materials to parents.
- Current Sex Education: Introduces children to all forms of sexual preferences, intercourse, and identities. SIECUS guidelines suggest teaching children as young as 5-years-old how to masturbate.

Sargent Shriver, former head of the Office of Economic Opportunity, which led the early charge for “sex education” in public schools.

“ Just as venereal disease has skyrocketed 350% in the last 15 years when we have had more clinics, more pills, and more sex education than ever in history, teen-age pregnancy has risen.”
